

A Benefit

Bilingual trilingual quadrilingual and more, different languages are being used all over the world

Knowing one can be hard for you may not understand Of another race spoken who came from a different land

Meeting new people and how they live, but are you able to communicate and understand what they give

For you may be in danger and not know how to speak, so you take that lose and all is heard is a shriek

But if you knew what to say and new what to ask, the situation would of never come to be because you'd understand your task

Many languages but only one brain, how could you possibly store all of one, it is insane

You learn a language which is your first, but it's never wrong to start a second at birth

I know of two and now learning three so when I leave America I understand that country

Lots of adventures and lots to see but it all starts when YOU leave your country

You know not of the language so how to have fun, when everyone speaks and you know nun

Take a risk learn something new because a different language can help you get through
